Mental Health Social Work in Context (Student Social Work) Nick Gould

There has been a re-energising of interest in social work in mental health services in recent years and mental health is now a core part of all qualifying social work students' training.

Grounded in the social models of mental health particularly relevant to qualifying social workers, but also familiarising students with social aspects of medical perspectives, this core text helps to prepare students for practice and to develop their knowledge around:

- promoting the social inclusion of people with mental health problems
- the changing context of multidisciplinary mental health services
- an integrated evidence base for practice
- working with people with mental health problems across the life course.

Mental Health Social Work in Context is an essential textbook for all social work students taking undergraduate and postgraduate qualifying degrees in social work, and will also be invaluable for practitioners undertaking post-qualifying awards in mental health social work.
